EMERGENCY talks are being held to save Harlow Town FC after its parent company was threatened with closure over unpaid tax bills.

HM Revenues and Customs has filed a petition which seeks to wind up the business for debts totalling £42,000.

It will present its case for Harlow Town Football Club Limited to go into liquidation in court next week.

out next week.

If it succeeds, the club could fold unless a new buyer is found.

This week HTFC chief executive Jeff Bothwell said a last-minute meeting with the club's head of directors the probability. board of directors, shareholders and potential financial backers has been arranged in the hope that a deal can be thrashed out to save the business.

And he said he may consider giving the company to chairman and director Simon Morgan in the hope he can solve the cashflow problems and keep it running.

"I don't believe the club will fold," Mr Bothwell told the Star.
"I think we will be able to reach some sort of arrangement with them.

"We have an EGM (emergency general meeting) on July 21 with directors, shareholders and people who want to invest in the club and I am confident we will sort something out."

Mr Bothwell said while the club had good financial backing, he was not able to transfer funds and shares at the moment because of an unrelated order preventing him from doing so.

He said this, coupled with huge overheads on running HTFC's new 3,500-spectator stadium at Barrows Farm which was built with funding from the Government's Gateway Partnership, has caused the current probhave been involved with it since 1994 and I would do anything to save it," he said.

Mr Morgan said he and Mr Bothwell were fighting "tooth and nail" to save the club.

"It's a resolvable situation which will be resolved," he told the Star. "It will not be allowed to go under."
Harlow MP Bill Rammell

said he has been in contact with the club to offer support, add-ing: "I am extremely concerned by this situation.'

SIMON MORGAN: "It's a resolvable situation which will be resolved"

"Harlow Town FC is a fantastic local club with a brand new stadium which the town should be really proud of.

"I have contacted the chairman again this week following the news of the HMRC hearing and he assures me that he is doing everything possible to agree with HMRC a payment plan for the monies outstanding which will enable the company to trade forward. I have offered the club any help I can give over the coming weeks to resolve this."

The Essex Football Association, which was not aware of the club's predicament before being contacted by the Star, said: "We are naturally concerned to learn of this news relating to one of our member clubs and will monitor the progress of the situation with great interest.

The court hearing is due to take place on Wednesday at the High Court in London.

Wife sobs as she denies murder attempt

A MOTHER-of-three accused of trying to suffocate her disabled husband wept in court as she told of the moment she put a pillow over his face.

Tracey Roffey (37) is alleged to have used the pillow and a plastic bag in an attempt to kill husband Gary (47) at their home in Sheldon Close, Harlow, on November 4 last year. She denies the accusations.

Mr Roffey suffers from the debilitating condition Motor Neurone Disease which has left him immobile from the neck

Giving evidence at Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday, Mrs Roffey said she put a pillow over his face because he twice said he no longer wanted to live after he wet himself.

She said she flipped and grabbed the pillow to "shut him up" but when she realised what she was doing she stopped.

She told the court she never had any intention of killing him, adding: "I felt so wicked and so ashamed because I scared him so much."

Mrs Roffey said she then drove to a supermarket with the intention of buying him some French bread to say sorry. She denied ever placing a plastic bag over his

She said she had suffered night sweats and had been to a doctor who suggested the cause could have been the onset of an early menopause. She said she took the decision because she did not want to get pregnant again.

She also said the diagnosis of Mr Roffey's condition came as a bombshell but while she got on with it her husband often got frustrated and was very critical.

Yobs set fire to homeless couple's tent

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HOMELESS couple lost all their possessions when yobs set light to the tent in they were living in.

Glenn and Margaret Johnson have been sleeping under canvas near Harlow Rugby Club for 10 weeks. They left the tent to go to Harlow homeless charity Streets 2 Homes in Wych Elm for a few hours on Monday morning but when they returned all that was left was the charred remains of their belongings.

As well as clothes, bedding and toiletries, their supply of food was also destroyed. Ex-serviceman Mr Johnson (48) said:

"We were coming back at about 12.45pm and were walking along Parndon Mill Lane when we saw a fire engine but we thought nothing of it. It wasn't until we got closer we smelled the acrid smoke and saw what had happened.

"We were just devastated. My wife suffers from anxiety and depression and this has done her no good at all."

Mr Johnson said the fire, which is now being investi-gated by police, has left him and his wife feeling unsafe

DEVASTATED: Glenn and Margaret Johnson with all that remains of their possessions (photo: HAR0575915)

They have been given another tent from Streets 2 Homes which they have pitched in a discreet location in the hope of avoiding fur-ther incidents.

"We are human beings and we deserve to be treated the same as everybody else," said Mr Johnson. "If it wasn't for Streets 2 Homes we would be living on a park bench now.
"We would like to thank them for all the help they have given us."

Patsy Dye, manager of Streets 2 Homes, said the way the Johnsons had been treated was horrific.

"If only the people who did this realised the impact it has had on the couple," she said. "They have lost everything - clothing, food and the tent - it's all they had. They were literally left with nothing."

The school has an EMPV Group – the Ethnic Minority Pupil Voice Group – which each year organises a cultural food event during which pupils and their families take along dishes of food from around the world and the whole school community celebrates cultural diversity.

Advice service cut costs council £1/3m

mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SLASHING the annual budget of Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice has cost Harlow Council a staggering £330,554.69 in redundancy payouts and associated costs.

The cash-strapped service has been forced to let 10 members of staff go since the council cut its funding by 72 per cent, costing the authority £146,969.36 in redundancy pay-

Payments made to staff in lieu of notice totalled £52,855.85, while National Insurance contributions added a further £6,197.26 to the final bill.

The remaining £124,532.22 represents the costs incurred by the authority through the early payout on staff pensions, although this money will not be received directly by the former employees as it will be paid into Essex County Council's local government pension scheme as a financial strain payment.

The figures were officially published by the council Wednesday afternoon, three days after the Star requested the information following an anonymous tip-off regarding the scale of the

The council has already spent £24,000 fighting a legal battle over its decision to cut the budget.

However, the authority has since agreed to continue funding the vital service to the tune of £120,000 a year over a five-year-period, making an annual saving of approximately £380,000 on the previous HWRA contract cost of just under

The service, which offers free, impartial advice and support for the unemployed and those on low incomes, has been forced to cut its opening times and turn away potential clients as a result.

But councillor Simon Carter, chairman of the policy and resources committee, said the service remained good value for money despite the enormous redundancy costs.

"It has always been clear that we would have to make redundancy payments and it is obviously regrettable in this climate that any staff should be made redundant," he said. "However, the council will be saving around £400,000 per year under the new arrangement and under the life of the contract this will be £2m saved for council taxpayers.

There will still be a specialist advice service available to those who need it and it brings our expenditure in line with other authorities.

Special day of fun and football

THE occasional summer shower couldn't dampen the spirits of visitors to a charity event held in memory of a Harlow man The Cassidy Football Fun Day drew crowds to the UG Social Club off London Road on Saturday with a four-hour soccer tournament, stalls, a bouncy castle, a car display courtesy of Bug Mad Customs and other activities.

Seven teams of seven players battled it out over two pitches. The final between Team Cass and Team Tiggs ended in a penalty shootout which saw Team Cass crowned champions.

The fun day, which was rounded off with a disco and an auction of football memorabilia, was organised by friends of Andrew Cassidy who died in March 2007 at the age of 28. They hope it raised about £3,000 for St Clare Hospice.

"We're so pleased with how things went and hope that everyone enjoyed themselves," said a spokesman. "The organisers would like to thank every single person who came along on the day to remember Andrew and to support such a worthwhile

Civic honours for town champions

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A QUARTET of communityspirited citizens were honoured for their tireless work when they were presented with civic awards during a special ceremony.

John Curry, Derek Fenny and Paul and Christine Baxter received their accolades from Harlow Council chairwoman Edna Stevens in recognition of their contribution to the life of the town.

Mr Curry was presented with his award for his work as vice-chairman of Harlow Civic Society and as Harlow representative of the Cyclist Touring Club.

Former Harlow Council deputy leader and district councillor Mr Fenny was honoured for his many roles in organisations throughout the town over the years, including chairman of governors at both Churchgate Primary School and Harlow College and a member of the board of trustees of East Potential, the project that bought forward The Foyer housing element of Occasio House for vulnerable young people.

Presenting the couple with the awards in the council chamber on Thursday, Mrs Stevens said: "A list of their activities since 1986 runs the risk of being incomplete. There is no doubt that they have been excellent teachers and role models.

"It is their voluntary work connected with Harlow Sports Club and Harlow Cricket Club – now amalgamated – and the Music at Marigolds Music Club that is an outstanding record of devotion and encouragement to the development of young people.'

She added: "It is thanks to people like the Baxters, giving their time for the benefit of the community, that the quality of life in Harlow is raised.'

GREENWAY Business Centre celebrated its fifth anniversary with a charity fundraising drive which raised more than £400 for Harlow Fields School.

MOST girls celebrate their Bat Mitzvah at the age of 12 but two women in their 60s proved that it is never too late when they celebrated theirs at Harlow Jewish Community Centre.

Jane Stevenson (61), from Bishop's Stortford, and Dee Kay (65), from Thornwood, held the double celebration last week.

"It was wonderful," said Jane, "I'd never had a Bat Mitzvah and I felt this would give me a deeper understanding of Judaism. It was hard work but a lot of fun and I plan to continue studying.' Dee added: "I joined the congregation five years ago and I couldn't read Hebrew. I felt that having a Bat Mitzvah was a way of thanking the community for all their support and for giving me the opportunity. It was absolutely the best feeling."

Picnic fundraiser

FUNDS will be raised for the Prince's Trust and Young Concern Trust, Harlow, when young musicians take to the stage on Sunday.

The Brilliant Musical Theatre School has accepted an invitation from West End star Kate Coysten to open her Songs from Stage & Screen picnic concert at Gaston House, Little Hallingbury, during which they will perform songs from their new production of The Adventures of Mister Toad.

HARLOW Cub Scout Jack Tucker has gained the movement's highest award for his age group.

The eight-year-old has been a member of the 16th Harlow Scout Group for two years, during which time he has undertaken a number of challenges to gain the award. "I went on a trail walk, learnt about healthy eating and made a healthy snack," he said. "I cooked tea one night of beans on toast for me and my brother and did it all myself." The Chief Scout Award is achievable by all members of Jack's age group and is not dependent on physical or mental ability.

Jack is one of 23 young people from Harlow who have gained the award for their section within the past 6 months.

Thumbs up for Harlow new town

MULTI-million pound plans to transform Harlow into one of the region's top shopping and leisure destinations have been given the public's seal of approval.

More than 2,000 people visited an exhibition of the proposals to revitalise the neglected northern part of the town centre and have, in the main, responded positively to the scheme.

Architect Neil Morris, who works for the London-based design team which drew up the plans, said: "I have been quite pleasantly surprised by the feedback.

"I'm enthusiastic about making a big change to Harlow while keeping in with the familiar characteristics. We are hoping to put the town back on the map."

The redevelopment blueprint includes a new hotel, market place, leisure multi-plex and bus station as well as homes, a new theatre, under-ground parking and a revamped library and Terminus House.

Up to 4,000 jobs could be created by the scheme.

Developer Stockland hopes to submit a planning applica-tion to Harlow Council next year with the view of completing the first phase of the project by 2013.

Two-thirds of people voting in a poll on the Star website said the plans were "excellent", although the remainder were less enthusiastic, with 18 per cent describing them as "okay" and a similar number as "awful".

Harlow Civic Society, the group which acts as guardians of the town's heritage, has so far stayed quiet on its response to the proposals.

MPs are the guardians of the weak and poor

SIR, Stan Newens' loyal defence of Bill Rammell was, I am afraid, sadly misplaced.

The expenses scandal is not a political party issue. All MPs have allowed an unjust system to continue with a few vocal exceptions and most have taken advantage of it. Do we really believe such people are morally competent to govern the country and take the vital decisions which are required to create a fairer society. I

Each present member of Parliament has to take responsibility for their action and lack of action. As to Mr Rammell being a committed constituency MP, it depends what one expects from an MP.

I do not doubt the time and effort he puts in. However, I do not judge the quality of an MP on their PR activity and the number of photos in the newspaper, nor even on the casework they take up on behalf of a small number of their constituents. We should have an advice centre for such activity.

What Mr Rammell was elected to do was to represent the people of Harlow in the democratic decision-making body of the House of Commons, to hold the executive to account, to ensure by his scrutiny a society which will benefit the whole society and to protect the poor, weak and vulnerable.

Almost immediately, he accepted office in the government which provided him with an even higher salary but prevented him from speaking against the government in Parliament and voting against the executive, which he was elected to hold to account. This means he has supported the present Government in virtually all of its policies which have led us into war, the suppression of liberties, to a fixed penalty justice system which favours the rich, to a lottery society which has resulted in the banking crisis and to a wider good. has resulted in the banking crisis and to a wider gap between rich and poor in this country since Victorian

It is not insignificant that these well-paid representatives incessantly compare their pay to bankers, local government executives, top journalists etc. As representatives of their constituents they should be comparing themselves with shop assistants, factory workers or even state pensioners and those on benefit.

Willowfield, Harlow

An ill-judged defence SIR, Former Labour MP Stan Newens asked that we put criticism of Bill Rammell into perspective and remember all the positive work he has done (Letters, July 9).

His now familiar rehashed defence of our MP would have been more plausible coming from at least one of the 10,000 constituents that Mr Rammell once claimed on a now defunct website to have helped. Ten thousand satisfied constituents and not one willing to stand up for Bill in his hour of need. Another figment of his overfertile imagination I suggest.

Mr Newens seems to be either unwilling or unable to give us examples of Mr Rammell's "immensely positive work". Obviously no mention of his strong support for the illegal war in Iraq, nor his strong opposition to a public inquiry into the bloodbath and, surprisingly, no mention of the £20bn he supports spending on Trident renewal.

Positive work to keep us all safe, Stan, or have I missed something?

To put Mr Rammell's disastrous tenancy of Mr Newens' once-safe Parliamentary seat into perspective, how about approaching £1m in expenses since 2002 and perhaps £800,000 in salary for an MP who never votes against the Government? Money well spent? I don't think so. Looking after constituents interests? I don't think so. Having known and admired Stan Newens for over 40 years I am more than a little saddened by what his illjudged letter might do to his hard-won reputation.

David Pugh Copse Hill, Harlow

Playing party politics SIR, Having read the article 'MP challenged to justify

Why, Mr Halfon, did you do nothing to challenge Harlow Council when it made its appalling decisions not so long ago regarding funding cuts for Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice, the closure of part of the Leah Manning Centre's vital services, car parking charges and the introduction of the ludicrous wheelie bins that nobody wants? plans for Harlow town centre will make the town an even better and bigger place.

By 2013 the town centre could be rebuilt, transformed and be unrecognisable from its current

I am very excited about these plans. Not only will the town centre become a hub of cafes, major retail department stores, a new hotel and possibly a new theatre, but the image of Harlow will be enhanced.

No longer will snobs and people who should know better have any simplistic or ignorant excuse to criticise the town in the way they do at present. Harlow will be an

When I visited the public exhibition in the town centre I was struck not just with the unity of all the major political parties but also with the passionate and heartfelt speeches made by the representatives of the partners

It is essential that the public comment and make their views known to the developers and the partners so that the final plans really do reflect local aspirations and desires.

Robert Halfon prospective Conservative MP for Harlow SIR, Any improvement to Harlow's run down town centre is to be welcomed.

However, pictures of the proposed development on a bright sunny day give no indication of what it'll be like when it rains. In short, wet and probably windswept, as is the Water Gardens.

Couple this with what, by the time of its opening, will no doubt be extortionate parking fees and Lakeside and Bluewater will continue to draw the crowds.

This could well be an opportunity missed for Harlow to be 'on the map' once more. Kevin Wright Priory Court, Harlow

Cubs' brew is to Bill's taste

By LOUISE SASSOON News Editor sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ORMER Cub Scout Steven Tisseyre has contacted Nostalgia after seeing the newspaper clipping, right, featured on this page two weeks ago.

The dog-eared cutting from the Guardian and Gazette dating back to 1982 showed Harlow Council chairman Bill Gibson supping a cup of tea made for him by the 16th Shawnee Cub Scouts as part of an event to teach youngsters how to use household equipment safely. "Although I am not in the cropped shot displayed in the Star, I am in the full shot," said Mr Tisseyre. "I recognised it straight away and I am sure my parents have the fully preserved article somewhere.

"I do vaguely remember the event but of course I was only 10 at the time and it was now 27 years ago. "I remember going to the council offices and into the chairman's chambers and seeing him with his ceremonial chain. For a 10-year-old I remember being quite apprehensive about meeting him, particularly as the press was going to be there."

He added: "One cub I do remember is Richard Hanrahan, who is the tallest in the shot and towards the rear. I also remember the pack leader was Alec, but his surname escapes me at the moment.

"I seem to remember getting one of my badges from this event and taking part in a sponsored teamaking event to see how many cups of tea we could make for family members. This task was quite difficult for me as both my parents are solely coffee drinkers!" The visit to the chairman's chambers was the first contact the young Mr Tisseyre had with the media but it was not to be his last. Now a police officer, he appears in the Channel Five television show Police Interceptors, a fly-on-the-wall documentary about traffic cops.

Thank you for your contribution, Mr Tisseyre. If any other readers have recollections of the event, or of their times as Cub Scouts in the town, then contact the Nostalgia desk by writing to 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or emailing sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Skatepark lights switched back on after timer prank

SKATERS have been given a warning after lights at Harlow's skatepark in First Avenue were reprogrammed to stay on until the early hours of the morning.

Council chiefs cut the power after local residents com-plained the high-voltage floodlights were staying on until

The decision angered skaters who said they were being penalised for the actions of a minority and feared they would have nowhere to skate in the

But following intervention

from the Star, the council this week restored power with a warning that the timer must not be tampered with again.

Tony Hall, chairman of the council's environment and community committee, said: "There is an agreement with residents and skateboarders, and as part of the planning decision, that the floodlights are not used beyond 10pm. "Unfortunately some users had tampered with the timer and this was causing problems for residents as the lights have been on late into the night.

IN THE LIGHT: Skaters celebrate the return of the floodlights

"The supply had been dis-connected temporarily while the doors were repaired and a secure lock fitted. It is a shame that a few users are vandalising the very facility they worked hard to get when the majority are looking after it."

He added: "Having no flood-lights did not cause any prob-lems for those who wanted to use the facility within the agreed times due to the current lighter evenings."

It cost the council £500 in equipment and officer time to secure the timer box.

Judge suspends jail sentence on DVD pirate who sold fake discs

A WAREHOUSE supervisor who sold pirated DVDs and CDs has walked free from court, despite being told by a judge he was stealing the commercial goodwill of producers.

John Ratchford (42), of Longbanks, Harlow, was given a six-month prison sentence but this was suspended for two years.

He pleaded guilty to a total of 10 offences – three of selling counterfeit discs and seven of possessing them – under the Registered Trademark Act. The charges involved 163 film DVDs and five music CDs.

He asked for seven other offences to be taken into consideration.

Prosecutor Ladi Lapite said a trading standards officer carried out test purchases in January on Ratchford and in February a joint operation with Harlow police was undertaken. When he was arrested he had three boxes of discs containing 295 DVDs and 3,207

The trademarks involved in the charges included 20th Century Fox, Warner Brothers, Paramount, Disney Enterprises and Sony Music.

Mr Lapite said Ratchford had previously been issued with infringement notices for selling counterfeit DVDs on a number of occasions.

Town comes alive to the sound of music

HARLOW found itself in the By CHRIS MOSS grip of festival fever on Saturday afternoon as hundreds of people enjoyed the town's second Midsummer Music Festival.

Even the last-minute cancellation of headliners Bushnut and the occasional downpour failed to dampen spirits as audiences were entertained by an eclectic range of live performances spread across four stages in the town centre.

Most of the action took place on the main stage in Market Square, where the afternoon's entertainment swung into action with the hypnotic African grooves of The Effua Sey Cultural Academy before local band Bite took to the stage.

Also on the bill were The Taunts, The Feelmores, Ubaldo Esteban and Popdad.

The music was interspersed with per-formances by Phoenix Theatre School and dance troupe Hip Hop Pop, while local author and amateur saxophonist Yvonne Marrs braved the stage to perform a couple of Beatles covers.

Over in the Harvey Centre shoppers were treated to a series of stripped-back acoustic numbers from Penny Royal and other acts playing the acoustic stage, while local singer-songwriters made good use of two busking spots set up in The Water Gardens and Library Square. Festival compere and organiser Phil Dale said: "All in all the day went very well and we got lots of positive feedback from the spectators.

"The bands all gave fantastic performances, especially the youngsters in Bite and The Taunts who were brilliant despite their nerves.

"The audience really enjoyed the element of variety we tried to bring to the day by breaking up the music with dance and drama."

investigation after 30 cheeky chimps escaped from their enclosure and headed straight for the kitchen where their food is prepared!

More than 5,000 visitors were asked to leave the zoo in Chester last Sunday afternoon as bewildered keepers desperately tried to round up the escapees. It's not yet known how the chimpanzees found a way out of their enclosure, but the zoo said they did not get into any public areas and no-one was hurt.

It seems the hungry chimps were far too busy ransacking the kitchen in search of tasty treats to cause any trouble for visitors.

Zoo director Gordon McGregor-Reid said: "Somehow or other they got into the kitchenit must have been the smell of the bananas or something like that.

"It was a bit like an old-fashioned chimps' tea party . . . they've certainly had a ball in that room that's for sure!"

Mr McGregor-Reid said visitors who were evacuated from the zoo on Sunday had been offered refunds and he apologised for the inconvenience.

"The chances of anything really serious happening are vanishingly small but we've got an emergency procedure in the zoo and we follow it," he said. "Public safety always comes first."

Safety tests scam lands pair in dock on fraud rap

TWO mechanics have been given suspended prison sentences after admitting to their involvement in an MOT scam run from a Harlow test centre

Eric Swift (66) allowed potential death-traps onto the roads by issuing test certificates to unroadworthy vehicles, Chelmsford Crown Court was Swift started manipulating the system after becoming "disillusioned" with his employers who were not involved in the scam.

Investigations began after codefendant Thomas Browne (54) took a car with excessively corroded brake lines, a leaking exhaust and a faulty parking brake to be tested at MOTs 'R' Uz, in South Road, and was given a pass certificate by Swift.

The owner of the test centre became concerned and installed CCTV cameras which helped the police investigate testing

Richard Potts, prosecuting, said Swift would carry out the fake tests on cars belonging to customers of mechanics who contacted him directly, without the vehicle being on site.

"Subsequently the vehicle would usually turn up and a cursory check on it would be done and Swift would print off a pass certificate for vehicles which had not been tested properly at all," said Mr Potts.

Browne, a self-employed mechanic, had taken a vehicle which was not roadworthy to Swift for testing. "He was simply drinking tea with Swift during the time the computer was ostensibly running," said Mr Potts.

Swift, of Wisbech, pleaded guilty to five offences of fraud and asked for 10 other offences to be taken into consideration.

He was sentenced to six months on each to run concurrently which was suspended for two years. He was also ordered to complete 250 hours of unpaid work and pay £500 prosecution

Browne, of Bishop's Stortford, pleaded guilty to one offence of fraud and was sentenced to three months imprisonment suspended for two years, 100 hours of

Owner's distress after cat suffers sickening injuries

A CAT owner whose pet suffered horrific injuries believes it may have been attacked by thugs

The two-year-old tabby called Kitty was found under bushes at Staple Tye after going missing from her home in Longbanks, Harlow.

She was very thin and suffering from a broken jaw and multiple fractures to a hind leg which was so badly damaged it had to be amputated.

Although it is not known what happened to her, owner Gabrielle Hall (51) said she was told by a vet that the injuries could have been inflicted deliberately.

"I think it is just sickening," Mrs Hall told the Star this week. "My granddaughter found Kitty and has been left heartbroken by what has happened and I have to keep holding back tears when I think about what may have happened to

"She was just in such a terrible state and I just want people to be aware there might be somebody out there inflicting these sorts of injuries on

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs in Harlow are getting tough on tax cheats by carrying out rigorous checks on people claiming discounts.

Residents living alone are entitled to a 25 per cent reduction on the amount they pay but the authority said in some cases fraudulent claims are made which until now have been difficult to identify.

The council has now started undertaking regular checks to find out who is cheating the system by illegally registering for the discount by comparing its records of sole occupier claimants with records held by other organisations.

Where there is a discrepancy the council will investigate further and may take legal action which could result in a court fine and an order to repay the cash. Simon Carter, chairman of the council's policy and resources committee said: "Most people claiming the discount will be genuine claimants but our experience suggests there are some fraudulent claims.

That used to be difficult to prove but we now have powers to cross-check with other agencies and prosecute people suspected of making false claims.

He added: "There is no amnesty period. If your circumstances change you must tell us immediately. Fraud like this affects everyone as other council tax payers are charged more to cover the cost of the sole occupier discount.

Anyone wanting to check their eligibility for a single person discount or notify the council of a change of circumstance should call Contact Harlow on (01279) 446655.

Festival atmosphere without the mudbath

mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHY break the bank for an overpriced trip to a muddy field to watch bands pick up their bumper festival cheques when you can watch some of Harlow's most promising acts playing at an all-day rock 'n' roll extravaganza on Saturday for absolutely nothing?

Just one week after rocking out in the town centre for the Midsummer Music Festival, music lovers are being treated to another astonishing freebie in the form of Pearfest '09.

Set in the grounds of Passmores School in Tendring Road, the notfor-profit festival will boast three stages featuring the likes of Bite, This City, People In Planes, Penny Royal, Lego Castles, Great Scott and Anything In Mind.

Organised by Friends of Harlow Rock School with financial backing from the Government's Youth Opportunities Fund and help from Harlow Youth Council, Tones Music Store and Harlow Hospital Radio, the all-dayer will give local bands and musicians experience of performing at their first open-air concert.

Sue Wood, of Friends of Rock School, told the Star: "This is a great opportunity for young bands to take a step out of their comfort zone of playing gigs at pubs and clubs by experiencing that unique festival atmosphere.

"We've got some fantastic bands and solo artists lined up for the event which will be a real celebration of Harlow's incredible local music scene.

With side stalls, activities, food and refreshments all available on site, Pearfest aims to recreate all the atmosphere of some of its bigger cousins, only without the overpriced booze (festival-goers are welcome to bring their own) and bone-crushing crowds.

"We're so grateful to the headteacher of Passmores for letting us use the playing fields at the school," added Sue. "We hope this will be a fitting end-ofterm party for the whole of Harlow."

ANDREW Prangnell's

Harlow Theatre Company Victoria Hall, Old Harlow

uncompromisingly bleak new play sets out to shock while laying bare the harsh realities of life in a dysfunctional family. Set in the front room of a house shared by drug dealer Paul (Jamie Anderson) and his severely autistic younger sibling Owen (Ben Parsley), the gritty drama explores the strained relationship between three brothers who find it difficult to relate to one another. While Paul has been caring for Owen since the death of their mother seven years earlier, eldest brother Adam (James Thompson) has been fighting with the Army in Iraq and Afghanistan and has returned a bitter and broken man suffering from Post-Traumatic Stress

He cannot understand his youngest brother's condition and shows contempt for him and Paul, dismissing their plans to move to Cornwall in search of a better life.

However, the pair's dream seems to be in tatters when Owen finds a gun in Adam's bag and accidentally shoots one of Paul's customers, Lesley (Kate Millner), who arrives at the house to buy drugs Anderson's undeniable talent then came to the fore when he brilliantly stepped into the role of protector, reassuring Owen while demanding to know why Adam had a gun.

But the full scale of the tragedy was yet to play out and came with a moment of redemption for Adam, who ultimately must make the ultimate sacrifice to protect his younger siblings when armed police arrive at the scene.

With convincing performances from four talented cast members, this was a hardhitting production.

strong characters, and a stage adaptation of a sitcom is always at risk of diluting the quirks and idiosyncrasies of the TV show's stars beyond recognition. But from the moment Jon McNamara strolled onto the stage, poured himself a scotch and settled down for a blissfully peaceful evening with nothing but his goldfish and classical LPs for company, there was no mistaking his role for anything other than that of crotchety divorcé Henry Willows.

A SITCOM is nothing without

McNamara was simply brilliant in his reprisal of John Thaw's character in Home To Roost, replicating the dry wit, irascibility and hidden warmth of a man who comes to realise solitude is not the life he craves

When his estranged son Matthew (played with great conviction by Dan Powell) turns up on his doorstep with his pierced and pregnant girlfriend Christine (Kerry Rowland), Henry is initially hesitant to try and patch up their strained relationship.

But when nagging yet confusingly coquettish ex-wife Sue (Biddie McAlpine, playing it coy and cool) completes the triumvirate of unwelcome house guests, Henry reluctantly slips into the role of husband and father as one crisis leads to another and the family man within him begins to stir from its enforced torpor.

Before long, he finds himself in bed with his ex-wife, his lavabout son reluctantly agrees to go back to college and an unwanted grandchild is revealed to be someone else's

The cast excelled under the direction of Claire Quley to skilfully depict the affecting tale of a man who finally achieves personal salvation in the last place he thought to look –his own family.

new this week HARRY POTTER AND THE HALF-BLOOD PRINCE certificate 12A 2h36m

DAVID Yates returns to the director's chair for the penultimate instalment of JK Rowling's magical series as the boy wizard and his friends face their toughest test yet.

Thankfully this is a marked improvement on The Order Of The Phoenix, riding some of the same dark undercurrents as The Prisoner Of Azkaban which remains the strongest adventure in the series thus

The gloomy tone is set from the opening sequence in the Muggle world, where three Death Eaters cause the collapse of the Millennium Bridge in London.

Younger viewers may need to hide behind their hands as Draco Malfov stamps on Harry's head, Katie Bell comes under attack from a cursed necklace and Bellatrix Lestrange and her cronies launch a night-time attack on the

To counterbalance the darkness, screenwriter Steve Kloves focuses on the frequently comical growing pains of Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint) and Hermione (Emma Watson) as they fall victim to raging teenage

Thus, Ron tries to extricate himself from a scarily passionate Lavender Brown (Jessie Cave) while Harry wrestles with (Bonnie Wright). As for Hermione, she tries to make Ron jealous by lavishing her affections on Cormac McLaggen. Meanhile, Professor Severus Snape is announced as the school's new Defence Against The Dark Arts teacher to the delight of Slytherin House, Ron and Hermione continue with their studies and Harry spends time with headmaster Albus Dumbledore (Michael Gambon) and a Pensieve memory device which delves into evil Lord Voldemort's past. Harry's bitter rivalry with Malfoy comes to a head atop the Astronomy Tower, where one of the boy wizard's friends sacrifices himself for the greater good. Harry Potter And The Half-Blood Prince condenses Rowling's hefty book into a mere 156 minutes which pass at a fair lick. Key scenes are sacrificed while others are amalgamated and there are only brief appearances by Hagrid (Robbie Coltrane), Remus (David Thewlis) and Wormtail (Timothy Spall). Visual effects are near flawless as usual, seamlessly melded with the live action. including the welcome return of Ouidditch

The central trio continue to improve as actors, showing deft comic timing while Jim Broadbent makes his mark as the guilt-ridden addition to the Hogwarts teaching fold.

Yates marshals all of the technical elements with increasing confidence and skill, but there's still something missing, an emotional resonance that has readers of Rowling's books in floods of tears. Crucially, the film's most important sequence doesn't deliver the emotional sucker punch we're expecting – Radcliffe cannot cry convincingly on camera

preview , The proposal certificate 12A 1h47m

SANDRA Bullock returns to form in Anne Fletcher's screwball romantic comedy which suggests the path to true love can sometimes begin with some good old-fashioned blackmail.

In the hallowed corridors of Ruick & Hunt Publishing, New York book editor Margaret Tate (Bullock) is feared by one and all including her long-suffering assistant Andrew (Ryan Reynolds), who knows he will be the first person to feel her wrath if coffee isn't on her desk when she arrives.

Andrew only puts up with her mental abuse in the hope that one day she might publish his debut novel and he can pursue his dream of being a world-famous writer.

But when Margaret is threatened with deportation to her native Canada after her visa expires, she forces Andrew to pose as her fiance and walk her down the aisle on the understanding they can get divorced a few months later when she has her citizenship.

As part of the ruse she accompanies him home to Alaska for a family gettogether where his parents (Mary Steenburgen and Craig T Nelson), grandmother (Betty White) and old flame (Malin Akerman) are stunned to learn he is engaged. While Margaret and Andrew stick to the plan, a wily immigration officer(Denis O'Hare) waits for one of them

ICE AGE: DAWN OF THE DINOSAURS (3D and 2D) Sid the sloth is taken to a dangerous subterranean kingdom after stealing dinosaur eggs and his loyal friends begin a rescue mission. The third instalment of the computer-animated Ice Age series is the weakest adventure so far, lacking inventive visuals or a clever screenplay to appeal simultaneously to adults and children.

TRANSFORMERS. REVENGE OF THE FALLEN: The robots in disguise continue their age-old feud in the eagerly-awaited sequel to one of the biggest box office hits of 2007. for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF)

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD) A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

Rams skipper

SCOTT Romaine has taken over from Paul Evnon as first team skipper of Harlow Rugby Club after being out of competitive action for more than a year.

The new captain, who sustained a serious leg injury in the second part of the 2007-08 season, can play as a flanker or as a hooker.

Romaine, pictured below, has now recovered from this injury and been training for some time. He is very much a players' player and will lead by example.

A club spokesman said: "The club is delighted that Scott is taking on this key role and is certain that it is a choice which will be welcomed by the players."

Eynon, who enjoyed two spells as skipper, said: "This last year has been tough and it's time to pass the baton onto someone else who can bring fresh enthusiasm to the team

"I'll continue playing as and when I can and I'll be supporting Scott as and when I'm required.'

Rams' director of rugby Lee Harron has appointed Pete Claridge and Francis Brown as the forwards and backs coaches. Brown is also appointed as the Colts' head coach while Steve Pope will continue to be a coaching consultant

■ THE RFU has restructured the leagues from national level downwards and Harlow will be playing in the newly-formed London Two North East division. This will put them up against most of the clubs they faced last season.

Unbeaten Town close in on title

Hockerill 97, Harlow Town 98-3 Harlow Town won by seven wickets Herts & Essex Cricket League, division two

THERE is nothing stopping unbeaten Harlow Town who moved closer to promotion with a convincing win at Hockerill.

The hosts batted first on Saturday and Town made two early breakthroughs with just eight runs on the board but Hockerill fought back through Simon Foster and Brad

They put on 55 before Shane Hooper dismissed Francis for 49. Foster went for 19 as the hosts collapsed, losing their last seven wickets for 14 as they were bowled out for 97.

Hooper claimed season's best figures of 4-56. Marc Lowers (2-14) and Simon Rowell (2-0) were the other wicket takers.

Town made quick work of the run chase, knocking off the runs required in just 16 overs. Shiraz Ali (36 not out) and Wade Norcott (27 not out) were the main run scorers. Harlow Town seconds maintained pole position in division four after a hard fought four-wicket home win over Cloghams. Chasing 193, Town collapsed to 38-4. However, a fifth-wicket partnership of 114 between Brian Lall (61) and Ashley Norcott (58) put Town back on track before Rob Marshall (12 not out) and Paul Smith (19 not out) guided Town home with eight balls to spare.

Leaders Harlow Town thirds (164-3; Bilal Ali 39, Jack Elston 76 not out) maintained their unbeaten record in division seven to beat Rickling Ramblers seconds (160-8; Stuart Alderson 6-37) by seven wickets. In division three, Potter Street (255-8) won by 88 runs at Molehill Green

Scott named | Stort final defeat for Burnt Mill | Falconer earns

John Warner 109-8. Burnt Mill 78-8

Burnt Mill lost by 31 runs Stort Trophy final

BURNT Mill were unable to prevent John Warner from retaining the Stort Trophy. The Year 7 and 8 final (ages 12-14) at Harlow Town Cricket Club on Thursday saw the Hoddesdon school put in to bat after Harlow's Burnt Mill won the toss.

A solid opening partnership of 37 ended when Harry Mason (8) was bowled by George Harrington. Wickets then fell regularly but John Warner opening batsman and skipper Lewis Davies held his team's innings together, making 39.

A final flourish from Tyler Burrows (18 not out) saw 32 runs added from the final four overs as Warner totalled 109-8 from 16 overs.

George Harrington (4-27) was the best Burnt Mill bowler. Tight bowling and fielding by the Hoddesdon school meant that Burnt Mill struggled. Only Harrington (14) made it into double figures as they struggled to 78-8.

John Simpson, a director of competition sponsors, Cartel Security Systems, presented medals to both teams. Graham Pryke, Cricket

Essex, presented the winning trophy to the John Warner

Brave star's injury return

HARLOW skipper James Butler has Harold Wd 106 been boosted by the astonishing Harlow 110-1 return of all-rounder Jason McNally - but disappointed as opening batsman Waqas Akhtar will miss the rest of the season.

Both played key roles when Harlow thrashed Harold Wood in division two on Saturday. McNally, who seemed likely to miss the rest of the season after sustaining a terrible finger injury while coaching youngsters, returned wearing a special protective plaster. He even managed to bowl and took 4-26 as Wood were dismissed for 106. "Jason really wants to play. He bowled really quickly. He bowled very well," said Butler.

Akhtar made a brilliant unbeaten 76 as Harlow chased down the small target. However, he has returned to Pakistan due to family commitments and will not be back until after the season has finished. "Waqas has done well for us and he just took the bowlers after Abhishek [Jhunjhunwala] got out. I will have to think a bit about how to replace Waqas."

Wood batted first and Luke Heskett gained a key wicket when he bowled David Hollings-

Harlow won by nine wickets Shepherd Neame Essex League, division two

Only Rehman Hussain (27) and Sujith Janaka (37) offered any resistance with the former going to a brilliant catch by James Butler off McNally.

James Butler, replacing the injured Nino Calvino as wicket-keeper, also caught Janaka off the bowling of his brother Nick.

Harlow's fielding was razor sharp with Heskett taking a brilliant diving catch off Jhunihunwala who claimed 4-12. The hosts adopted an aggressive approach and only lost one wicket with Jhunjhunwala bowled by Richard Brabner for 27.

Akhtar then took control with Rehman

Ahmed (4 not out) playing the anchor role in an unbeaten partnership of 70.
Butler added: "It was a clinical performance.

We put them away really well."

OTHER RESULTS: Harlow II (140; Simon Baulcomb 57) lost by 131 runs at Hutton (271-7); Harlow thirds (208-8; Andre Riddell 54 not out) won by two wickets at Hutton III (207); Harlow IV (104) lost to Wanstead VI (106-2) by eight wickets.

England call-up

plaudits at the weekend after producing his finest performance.

The 16-year-old Passmores School student was representing Essex in his first All England Schools Championships. In sunny but windy conditions at the impressive Don Valley stadium Billy rose to the occasion for a personal best of 1.96m.

Six jumpers managed 1.90m but Billy was all alone in clearing 1.93m to seal this win. He then cleared 1.96m to move to second in the UK U-17 rankings.

Billy will now represent the All England Schools team in a Home Nations international match at Antrim, Northern Ireland, next Saturday. Here he will face Kyle Henderson, the UK U-17 number 1 from Scotland who has cleared two metres this season.

Essex county coaching secretary John Stow said: "I am absolutely delighted for Billy who has worked so hard over the winter months and this result is a just reward for all his effort during last winters training. I want to pay tribute to his national high jump coach Carol Jackson and to Rebecca Conway his PE teacher at Passmores for helping Billy." Billy has improved rapidly since taking up high jumping two years ago. He jumped 1.70m in 2007 and rose to 1.84m last summer when he placed second in the inter boys Essex Schools Championships.

Markus was competing in his third All England Schools Championships and placed a fantastic second in the final of the senior boys 400m after a very tight finish down the home straight. He was pipped by Ross McDonald (West Midlands).

The 18-year-old was representing Herts as he is studying A-Levels at The Bishop's Stortford College. He clocked 48.2s, just outside his PB. Meanwhile, former Leventhorpe School student Sam Watts produced an excellent performance to qualify for the 200m final at the World Youth Championships in Italy on Sunday.

He was 7th in 22s in the final televised live on Eurosport against strong competition from the USA and Jamaica

Trainee signs for Spanish club

Cowley had spells at West Ham and Southend plus a stint in America. His height hindered him in the English game, something not as critical in Spain where talent on the ball comes first.

Cowley won a spot at the Hoddle academy after impressing at Cobham, the Chelsea FC training ground. He was offered a full-time contract and was supervised personally by Hoddle, who was brought up in Harlow.

Cowley said: "I am over the moon to get a contract with Huelva. We have played them a few times recently and thankfully I did a pretty good job in front of their scouts.

"Thope I can score a few goals and get them promoted back into La Liga. This is a huge opportunity for me and I am definitely going to take it and show the Spanish clubs just how good English players can be on foreign soil.

"I've had an unbelievable year with Glenn and the coaches and in that time I know I've really come on. They really do a superb job, the coaching is second to none and I can't thank Glenn and the team enough for all the effort they have put in. It's been simply brilliant here and I will miss the coaches and all the players." Hoddle added: "This is a very proud day for me and everyone at the GHA, players and staff alike. It also vindicates my belief in the concept of giving players released too soon a second

"We've given him the opportunity and now it's down to him to take it.

Hammers swoop for Hawks young ace Lampe

david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DEFENDER Jack Lampe has left Harlow Town to join Premiership side West Ham United on a one-year deal, while centre-half Danny Wolf has also left Barrows Farm.

Lampe has signed with Gianfranco Zola's Hammers after impressing Academy Director Tony Carr in a trial.

Harlow are not expected to receive a fee for Lampe.

Lampe made four first team appearances for Harlow last season and he played regularly for the reserves.

He said: "Joining West Ham is massive for me. It's just a dream come true. I've always wanted to be in an Academy playing with good players and to a good standard.
"Now, I hope to become a regular in the reserves this season and earn another contract."

He added: "I can't wait to start working at West Ham now. The move has come about quite quickly and I can't wait to get going."

Meanwhile veteran defender

Wolf, who played under Hawks boss Glen Alzapiedi at Ware, has left Harlow.

He only joined late last season but has quit the club after attending one pre-season training session.

Alzapiedi said: "It was his decision to leave. It is one of those things that happen. Losing a central defender is not a huge disaster. Strikers are the most difficult to replace."

The Hawks supremo said that he was looking for a central defender who is left-footed.

At the moment he has Laurie Stewart and as cover Dave Blower but the latter is mainly a right-back.

"I would like someone who who is left footed and who can play in centre of defence act as cover for [left-back] Michael Bardle if gets injured," added Alzapiedi.

Defender Chris Wilde is rumoured to be a target for Alzapiedi who has tied up a number of signings for the new season.

These include strikers John Frendo and Ricci Crace while midfielders Tim Lees, Christian Wheeler (ex-Aveley), Joe Stevens, Tyler Campbell, Kai Ramshaw, Emmanuel Owusu and Clarke Akers plus keeper Richard Hayward have all signed Ryman League forms this week.

Defenders Stewart and Bardle have also re-signed.

Harlow were due to start their pre-season programme at Stanway Rovers last night (Wednesday) before hosting Blue Square South club St Albans City on Tuesday and Blue Square Premier club Histon next Thursday.
